

THE BOGLIASCO FOUNDATION
LIGURIA STUDY CENTER FOR THE ARTS AND HUMANITIES

“The Liguria (Study) Center conjures the perfect setting for a creative experience: breathtaking beauty, well-appointed facilities, a staff that gracefully combines warmth and efficiency, and the stimulating company of some of the brightest scholars and artists around.”

— Carlos Sanchez-Gutierrez
Bogliasco Fellow 2009

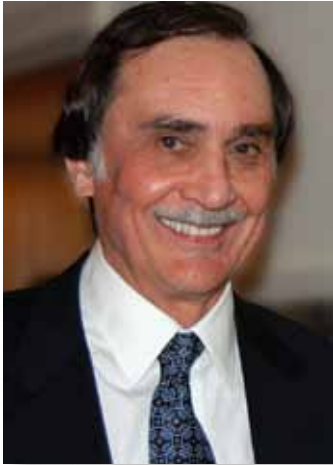

The Bogliasco Foundation

was created as a non-profit operating foundation in 1991 with the sole mission of running the Liguria Study Center for the Arts and Humanities. The Liguria Study Center, which is located on the Italian Riviera in the village of Bogliasco, provides residential fellowships for qualified persons working on advanced creative or scholarly projects in the arts and humanities. The Study Center is one of the few residential institutions in the world dedicated exclusively to all of the humanistic disciplines. Since its inception, the Study Center has hosted more than 550 Fellows from 38 countries.

It is my distinct pleasure to present the Bogliasco Foundation's 2009 Annual Report. The year 2009 brought a number of changes at the Bogliasco Foundation, perhaps the most significant of which was the establishment of our new online application system, officially launched in November in anticipation of the 2010/2011 academic year. Through this new system, we expect that the application process will be made easier both for our administrative staff to process and, more important, for our applicants. I encourage those of you who have not yet done so to visit the Foundation's website, www.bfny.org, which provides detailed information about the Foundation and its residential fellowship program.

The 55 residents who came to the Bogliasco Foundation's Liguria Study Center in 2009 represented 17 countries, including such distant places as Australia, Columbia, New Zealand, Poland, Russia and Sweden. The ages of our Fellows ranged from 28 to 78 and their fields of discipline included: classics, dance, history, literature, film/video, music, philosophy, theater and visual arts. I am always thoroughly captivated when I read through the descriptions of our Fellows' proposed projects. Taken as a whole, they are indicative of the diverse voices that our Fellows bring to the Study Center. Here are just a few of the fascinating projects undertaken by 2009 Bogliasco Fellows:

- An original reading of Plato's theory of understanding in the Republic
- A vivid, often ironic, picture of Ukraine from the 1950s to present day, told through the life of a man as recollected by different women
- The libretto for an opera, a ritual drama centering around the personal consequences of a natural catastrophe and the necessity of going through the process of mourning
- An ephemeral work incorporating projected computer animations, free-standing opaque and reflective surfaces, and musical transmissions
- A critical biography of Fyodor Dostoevsky
- A multi-movement work for large orchestra with electronics and video projection in the form of a symphony
- A film on the life of Madame Blanchard, the first professional female pilot and the Official Aeronaut of the Restoration, at the beginning of the nineteenth century in France

We were delighted to welcome Stephanie Fennessey to the Foundation's Board of Trustees this year. Stephanie brings with her a wealth of experience in the financial sector as well as a background in and passion for dance. On the staff side, Gianni Migone, who had worn many hats at the Study Center since its inception, retired at the end of December. Valeria Soave joined the Study Center's administrative staff as Administrative Assistant this year. Here in the New York office, we were pleased to have Carola Mamberto, a native of Finale Ligure, near Bogliasco, join the staff as our new Program Manager.

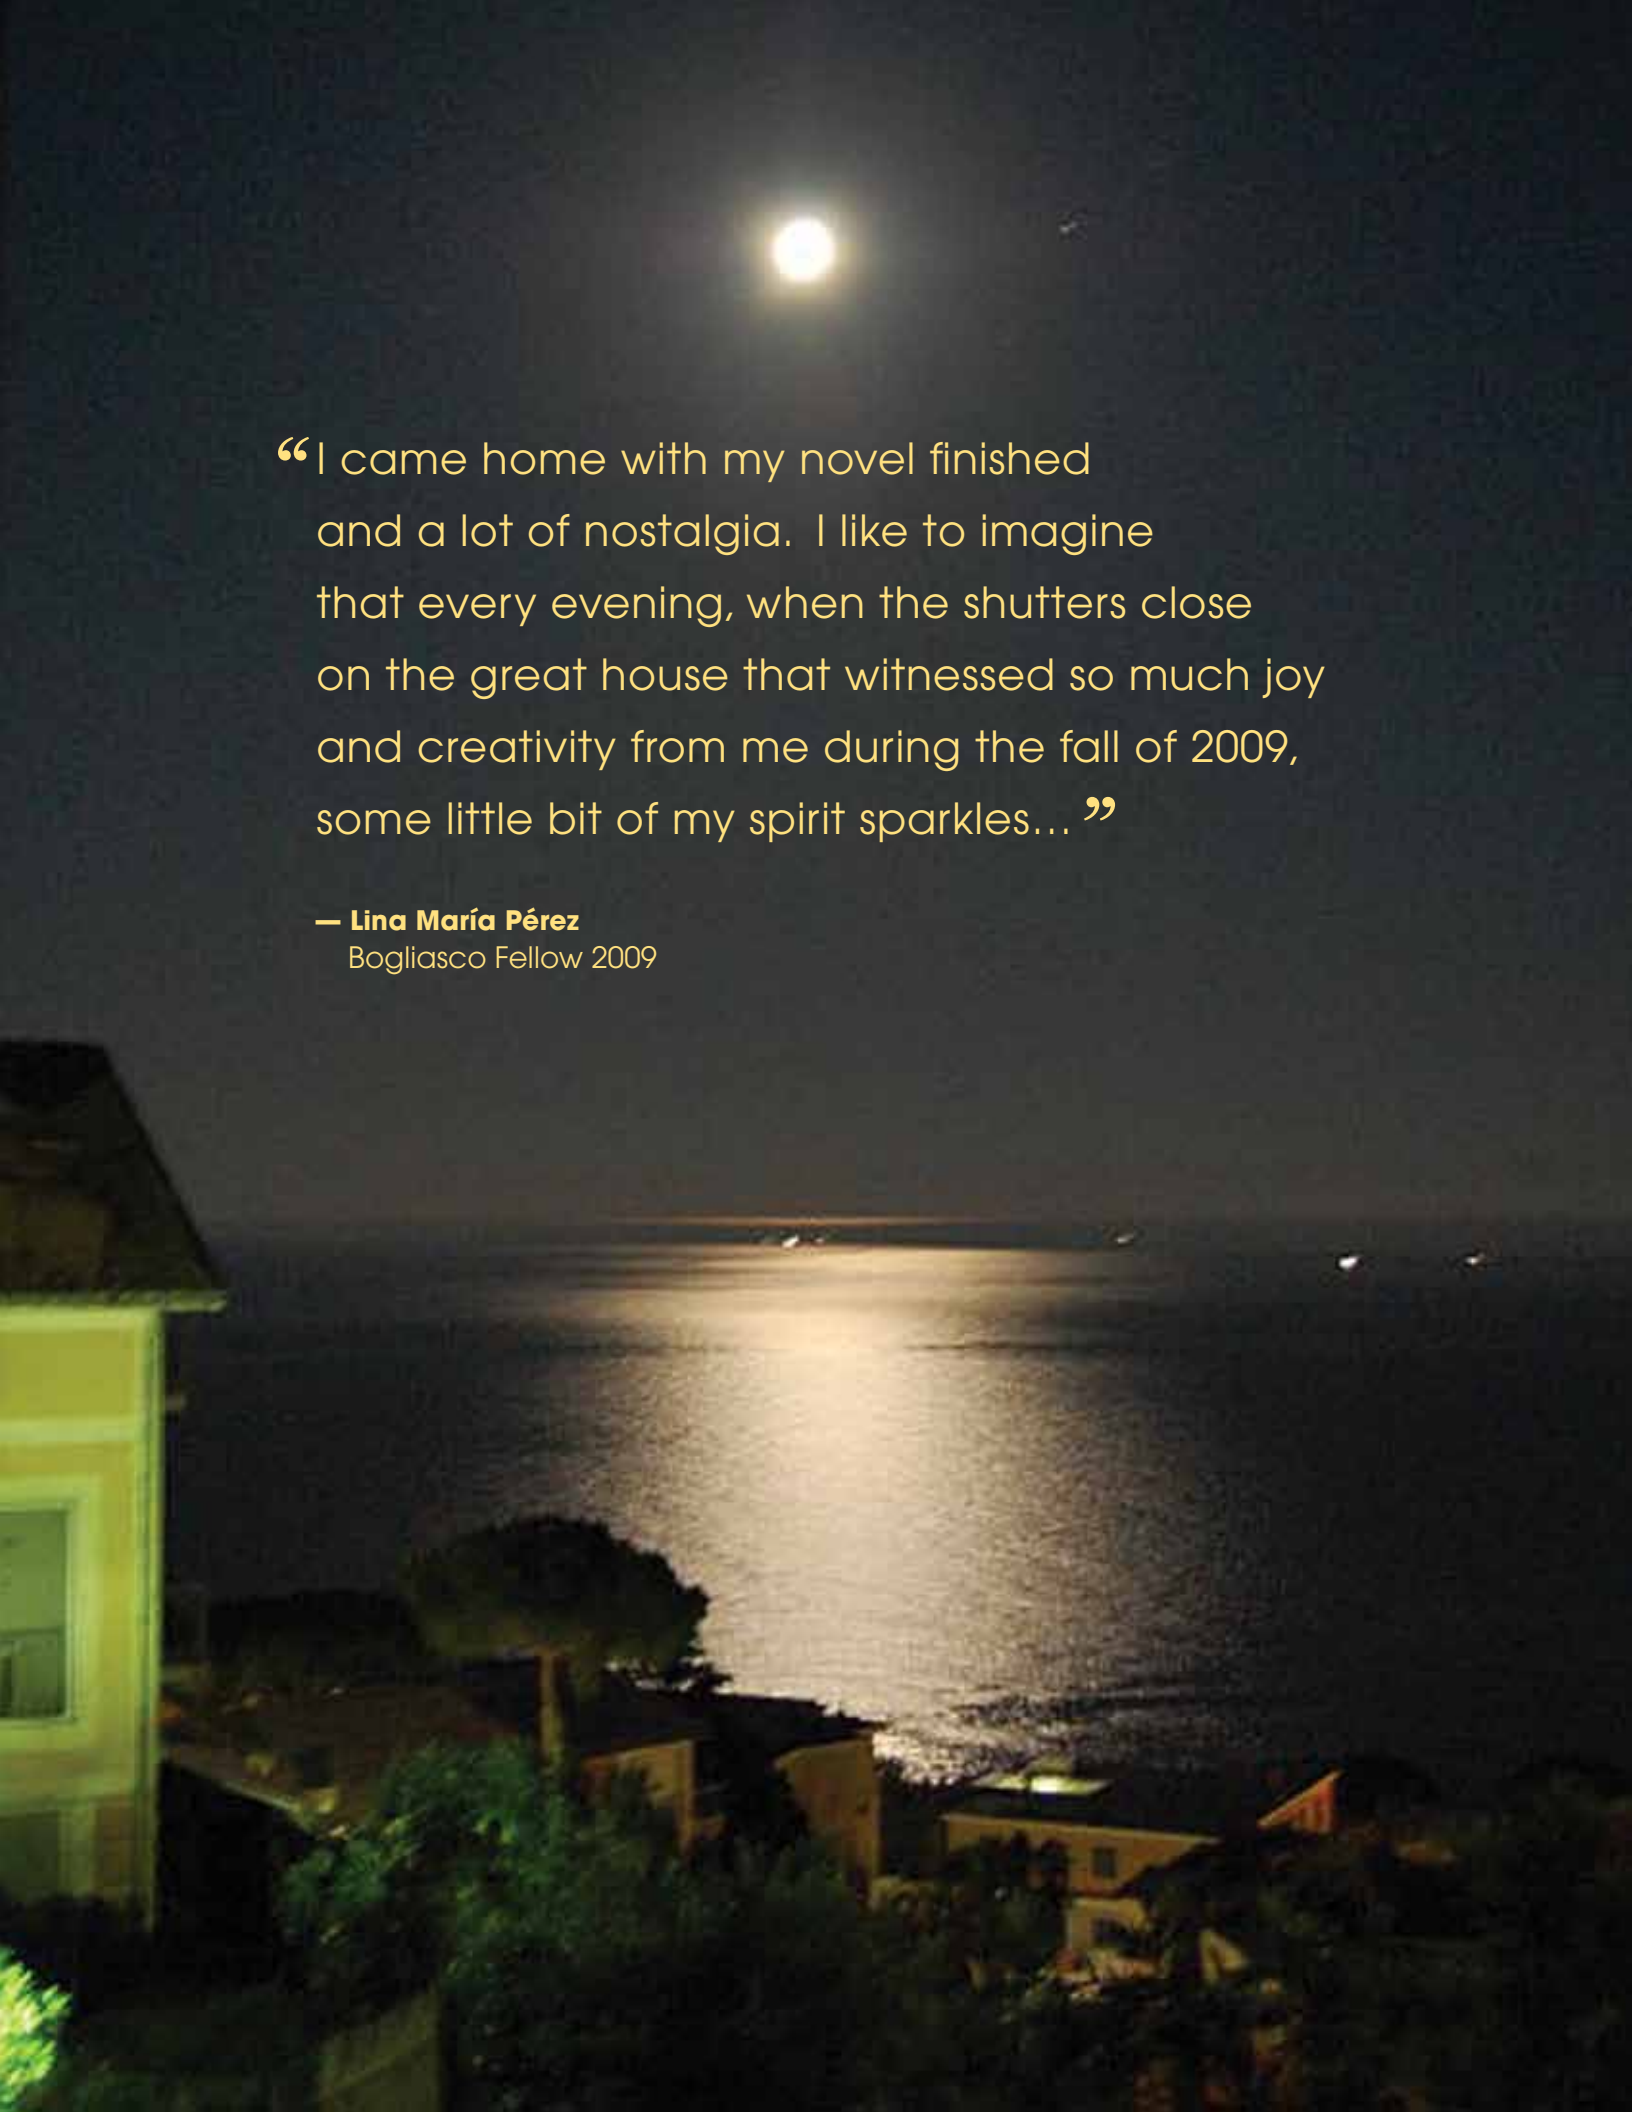

On behalf of my fellow Bogliasco Foundation Trustees, I would like to offer heartfelt thanks to our generous donors and advisors around the world for their steadfast commitment of time, energy and crucial funds. It is their generosity that enables the Foundation to continue supporting gifted artists and humanists as they advance human civilization in their pursuit of beauty and meaning. I would also like to recognize the Bogliasco Foundation's staff for their work. From our chef who creates elegant repasts for our Fellows day after day, to the gardeners who maintain the historic grounds, to the administrative staff in both Italy and the United States, we are fortunate to have such a dedicated and collegial team of professionals.

Thank you for taking this journey with us. Without your interest and support, our work would simply not be possible.

With best wishes,

James S. Harrison
President
The Bogliasco Foundation

“I came home with my novel finished and a lot of nostalgia. I like to imagine that every evening, when the shutters close on the great house that witnessed so much joy and creativity from me during the fall of 2009, some little bit of my spirit sparkles...”

SPECIAL EVENTS

On April 2, 2009, the Bogliasco Foundation held a reception for Fellows at the Brookline, Massachusetts home of Fellowship Advisory Committee member Larry Berman. That same weekend, the Foundation participated in the second biennial International Opportunities in the Arts conference in Boston where Jim Harrison spoke about the Foundation's Liguria Study Center. Sponsored by Transcultural Exchange, the conference had over 400 participants and 70 speakers representing study centers across the globe.

In June, the Foundation facilitated the participation of several Bogliasco Fellows in the Festival Internazionale di Poesia which has been held in Genoa every June since 1995. Poets Ann Pion ('09) and Stephanos Stephanides ('09) read their poetry with the help of professional actors who performed the Italian translations of their work. Adriano Kestenholz ('00, '03) and Gilberto Isella ('04) participated with a video presentation, "Villa Saluzzo Serra, la latenza del visibile."

On September 26, in conjunction with the Giornate Europee del Patrimonio, the Liguria Study Center opened the gardens of Villa dei Pini to the public for a guided tour with landscape architect and Bogliasco Foundation Trustee Gianni Biaggi de Blasys.

October was a busy month for the Foundation on both sides of the Atlantic. On the 6th of October, there was a lecture and reception at the Italian Consulate for Bogliasco Foundation supporters. The talk was given by Foundation Advisory Committee member Elisabeth Sussman who is a curator at the Whitney Museum and who spoke about the Venice Biennale. Also that month, there was a reception for Foundation supporters at the New York home of Fellowship Advisory Committee members Ellen Phelan and Joel Shapiro, where guests enjoyed a talk by Bogliasco Fellow and noted graphic designer Chip Kidd ('97, '04). In Genoa, the Foundation took part in the Festival della Scienza by organizing two conferences relating to texts of Galileo Galilei. The conferences were held by Erminia Ardissino ('07) who is a specialist in Galilei's work and life.

On December 8 a small group of Foundation friends joined Trustees Page Ashley and Jim and Marina Harrison for a private tour of the Celebrating Puccini exhibition at The Morgan Library and Museum in New York. Frances Barulich, the show's curator who led the tour, joined the group for lunch afterwards in the Morgan Dining Room.

On the 19th of December, the Confuègo took place in the city of Genoa. This traditional Genoese celebration dates back to the Middle Ages, and the Bogliasco Foundation was invited by the Municipality of Genoa to participate in it. As part of this event, the Foundation arranged for a cello piece composed by European Advisory Committee member Nevio Zanardi to be performed by cellist Simone Boi in the stunning Sala del Maggior Consiglio in the Ducal Palace of Genoa. The original score was then presented as a gift to the Mayor of Genoa.

“È stato un privilegio sedere ogni sera a cena con importanti artisti di discipline diverse e poter discorrere non solo dei progetti a cui stavamo lavorando ma della cultura dei rispettivi Paesi di provenienza.”
