Bogliasco residencies often inspire Fellows to take their work in new directions, generating unexpected interdisciplinary collaborations.

Drawn to each other's creative styles while in residence together this fall, Finnish choreographer Maria Nurmela and British composer Charlotte Bray created this mesmerizing video performance, on-site in the village of Bogliasco, as a beginning to what they hope will be a rich, long-term partnership. About

Located in the fishing village of Bogliasco near Genoa, a region of extraordinary beauty whose landscape has stimulated creative expression for centuries, the Bogliasco Foundation offers one-month residencies to individuals of all nations who can demonstrate notable achievement in the Arts and Humanities.

Apply

Each year, the Bogliasco Foundation awards approximately 50 Fellowships, without regard to nationality, age, race, gender, or religion, in any subject area of the following disciplines: archaeology, architecture, classics, dance, film/video, history, landscape architecture, literature, music, philosophy, theater, visual arts.

Fellows

In 17 years, the Study Center has welcomed over 750 Fellows from 50 different countries. In the Spring 2014 semester, 26 Fellows from 12 countries are working on new projects that will enrich the global cultural landscape.

Events

The Foundation frequently hosts special events in Italy and New York featuring projects developed by Fellows in residence. Bogliasco Fellows also regularly exhibit, perform, and publish their acclaimed work around the globe.

April 28: Guggenheim Tour

On Monday, April 28, the Bogliasco Foundation invited the highest level members of the Società di Amici and their special guests to take an exclusive tour of the Guggenheim exhibition, Italian Futurism, 1909-1944: Reconstructing the Universe, with curator and Bogliasco Fellow Vivien Greene (BF '09).

If you are interested in attending events such as this, please click here to learn more about joining the Bogliasco Foundation's membership group, the Società di Amici.

Working with creative director Dave Green of Brightgreen Design, and lead developers Craig Kauppila and Rowland Holmes, the Foundation has responded to the needs of Bogliasco Fellows, donors and the general public, creating a fresh design, simpler navigation, and rotating content that Bogliasco staff can easily update internally.

Supporters and friends all over the world become better connected to the program they support in Italy through video “Snippets” of Fellows living and working at the Study Center and through portraits of featured residency projects and collaborations.

Alumni become better connected to one another and to the Foundation through the new Alumni Portal, where Fellows can share their news and upcoming events while learning how to stay involved with the Bogliasco Foundation after they leave the Study Center.

Other features of the new site include:

- updated Mission & History pages
- a list of current Fellows that includes images and snapshots of their residency projects
- an active News & Events page, with content frequently added by the Foundation and Bogliasco Fellows
- expanded Photo Galleries, filled with images of the Study Center, Foundation events, and Fellows-in-residence
- an Acknowledgment page to thank donors, partners, and talented photographers
- a detailed list of FAQs for those interested in applying

Please stay tuned over the next few months for the release of more features, including video content from the Study Center, testimonials from our Fellows, and a special memorial page to Bogliasco Foundation co-Founder Anna Maria Quaiat.

Fellows Notes

Because we now have an interactive News & Events page on the website, BF News will no longer include Fellows Updates. Instead, each issue of our newsletter will focus on Bogliasco Foundation updates and will include a link to the News page, where readers can see all announcements and upcoming events uploaded by Bogliasco Fellows.

In Remembrance

With sadness, we share news of the passing of this member of the Bogliasco family.

Elena Morris, a dear friend of the Foundation, passed away in January. As a founding member of the Fellowship Oversight Committee, Elena played a key role in helping the Foundation award residencies at the Bogliasco Study Center in Italy to deserving artists and scholars from across the globe. We are grateful for Elena’s dedication and friendship over the past 18 years and thankful for her expertise and guidance, which allowed more than 750 individuals from 50 countries to experience the gift of a Bogliasco Fellowship. It means a great deal to all of us that Elena was able to attend a Bogliasco Foundation event just days before she passed away. She made that evening—and all of the Foundation’s special events—a little brighter, and she will be dearly missed.
